First 30 Days of Season 28

Entering the Season of the Inventor

As we move into October it’s time to introduce a brand-new theme for Season 28. Welcome to the Season of the Inventor. Human history is littered with inventors, those creative innovators who blend intelligence, ingenuity, and originality to build entirely new systems, tools, and devices. We chose the inventor to represent Season 28 to celebrate and recognize the incredible creativity and talent of our Xbox Ambassadors.

From showcasing your artistic side during October or NaNoWriMo, to sharing your unique and personal stories during calls for content, this Season is sure to be full of ingenious and inventive moments.

And as always, we’d like to extend a friendly welcome to all the new Xbox Ambassadors who joined in the last Season. We’d also like to send warm congratulations to all the Ambassadors who celebrated their anniversary in the program during the previous Season. Thank you again for all that each of you do to promote inclusivity within the Xbox and gaming community, and for providing such a positive and welcoming environment.

Gaming Accessibility

One of the focuses of Season 28 is expanding accessibility in gaming. From introducing more inclusive gameplay and controls to helping raise awareness, this Season the Xbox Ambassadors team is working to introduce new missions based on improving accessibility.

Women in Gaming

Female-identifying gamers are an integral part of the Xbox community and our program of Xbox Ambassadors. This Season, we'll be highlighting the experiences of our female-identifying gamers. Multiple calls for content will be going out in the first 30 days of the Season, many thanks in advance for those who respond!

NaNoWriMo
